The Kendal Crash was the worst rail disaster in history at the time. The tragedy took place on the night of September 1, 1957, near Kendal, Manchester, and claimed the lives of more than 250 people. Fourteen of those lost, nearly 6 per cent of all those killed, were members of the author's family.

According to Jamaican born author Colin Channer "Beverley East has put her heart and soul into this gripping family saga that shuttles between the past and present with the locomotive power of a speeding train. With terminal points in England and Jamaica.

Reaper of Souls is a tumultuous journey teeming with characters who will live with you in memory for a very long time."
