The Jamaican sprinter joked with the paparazzi that they couldn't catch him and left them trailing in his wake as they tried to take his picture.

Bolt, who holds the world records for the 100m and 200m, smiled and slapped hands with a clubber as he ran away.

Despite wearing jeans and a shirt instead of his usual track gear he was quickly into his stride.

Bolt had turned out at London club Alto along with Lewis Hamilton. telegraph.co.uk
