

Dead guy on motorcycle in Puerto Rico

David Morales Colon, 22, who was shot to death last week in Puerto Rico, had asked his family to avoid a traditional funeral when he died.

So morticians propped him up on his trusty Honda, dressed for his last road trip in shades, cap and a riding shirt.

“He loved his motorcycle. It made him feel free from his worries,” a mourner said. “We all know he will be happy riding for eternity.”

Source: NY Post - photo: Vanessa Serra/primerahora.com