

Eve to be Honored in Jamaica

Eve is set to be one of three international stars honored in Jamaica at this year's Excellence in Music and Entertainment (EME) Awards.

Taking place Saturday March 12, 2011 at The East Lawn of the historical Devon House site in Kingston, Jamaica, Eve will be an honoree along with Trina and Jamaican comedian Rayzor.

In addition to being honored, Eve will hit the stage with Jamaican rapper Lady Saw to perform their hit "He's At My House" from Saw's My Way album for the first time live.

Speaking on her upcoming performance with Eve, Saw released a statement saying,

"I feel extremely excited about performing with Eve. We have been good friends for a while now. She loves Jamaica and is looking forward to performing with me at the EME Awards."

The 2011 Excellence in Music and Entertainment (EME) Awards will recognize the top reggae performers in approximately 30 award categories.

Winners will be determined based on their performance on The Weekly Jamaica Music Countdown (Charts), votes via texts and votes at the website www.emeawards.com.
