

Prince Harry wants to come back to Jamaica

Britain's Prince Harry has sent a note to the Governor General Sir Patrick Allen describing his three-day visit to Jamaica as totally overwhelming.

And he wants to come back!

"I have made life-long friends - and cool ones at that! Please can I come back and visit...lots?" Prince Harry wrote in the note to Sir Patrick.

He started by saying: "Wow! I have totally fallen for Jamaica and its people. My grandmother, The Queen, was so right about you."

He continued: "Thank you for showing me such a good time, and allowing me to visit so many cultural, historical and fun places.

"The warmth that I received from the moment I set foot on your awesome island has been totally overwhelming.

"In passing on your good wishes to The Queen for her Diamond Jubilee, I can't wait to tell her all about my three-day visit."

Prince Harry arrived in Jamaica on Monday and departed Thursday.
