

KSAC to launch mobile app to collect illegal activity reports

The Kingston and St Andrew Corporation (KSAC) is to launch an interactive mobile technology application to help residents report illegal activities.

The App, which is called LoveCleanKSA, will also allow persons to report issues such as uncollected garbage, streetlight malfunction, illegal signs and billboards.

Speaking at yesterday's monthly meeting of the KSAC Mayor of Kingston, Senator Councillor Angela Brown Burke said the mobile application is part of an initiative to improve the response time of the Corporation.

She pointed out that the KSAC is aiming to improve its efficiency and effectiveness by integrating technology with its operations.

The KSAC mobile application will be available to the public come Tuesday, August 27 and can be downloaded from the website www.ksac.gov.jm.
