

'Quick Fingaz' for LIME gadgets

Telecommunications company LIME is giving Facebook fans the chance to win great weekly prizes with its 'Quick Fingaz' game.

The virtual competition is hosted as a Facebook app, welcoming social-media fans to test their 'Quick Fingaz' with the possibility of winning the latest gadgets including PlayStation[™]4 Console, new iPad Air, new Macbook Air, new Android smartphones and others. It is one of LIME's customer-engagement activities for the season where LIME customers and social-media fans can win great prizes for the Christmas season. "Since the launch of 'Quick Fingaz' last week, we have had over 1,000 Facebook fans try their hands at the competition, hoping to win. Quick Fingaz is fun and you can challenge your friends to see who can score the most points in the competition," said Vaundez Johnson, social-media manager, LIME. During game play, digits from one to nine are spun on screen. To score point(s), players are required to stop the spin cycle by pressing the spacebar (on a computer); pressing zero (0) (from mobile phones without touch screens) or touching the play/stop button at the bottom of (tablets; mobile phones with touch screens). Each player has a maximum of 10 'tries' per day. To try Quick Fingaz, gamers must be a fan of the LIME Jamaica Facebook page. Fans are also encouraged to invite friends in order to get additional opportunities to play and further the chance of winning great prizes.
