

Difference Between Grown Women And Girls

Girls want to control the man in their life.
Grown women know that if he's truly hers, he doesn't need controlling.

Girls check you for not calling them.
Grown women are too busy to realize you hadn't. Girls are afraid to be left alone.
Grown women revel in it-using it as a time for personal growth.
Girls ignore the good guys
Grown women ignore the bad guys

Girls make you come home
Grown women make you want to come home
Girls leave their schedule wide-open and wait for a guy to call and make plans
Grown women make their own plans and nicely tell the guy to get in where he fits
Girls worry about not being pretty and/or good enough for their man
Grown women know that they are pretty and/or good enough for any man
Girls try to monopolize all their man's time (i.e., don't want him hanging with his friends)
Grown women realize that a lil' bit of space makes the together time even more special, and goes to kick it with her friends
Girls think a guy who cries is weak
Grown women offer their shoulder and a tissue
Girls want to be spoiled and 'tell' their man so
Grown women 'show' him and make him comfortable enough to reciprocate without fear of losing his 'manhood'
Girls get hurt by one man and make all men pay for it
Grown women know that was just one man
Girls fall in love and chase aimlessly after the object of their affection, ignoring all 'signs'
Grown women know that sometimes the one you love, don't always love you back-and move on, without bitterness
Girls will read this and get an attitude

Grown women will read this and pass it on to other Grown women and their male friends.