

Today's Travel Tip - Tape Bottles

The worst thing that can happen is that you arrive at your destination to attend a big event to find that lotion or baby oil or something has succumbed to air pressure and leaked on your outfit. "But I know I closed it" You say to yourself angrily. The point is, things happen, so protect your stuff. After you properly close all bottles with oils, lotions etc, if time allows, tape the tops of the bottle or put them in a plastic bag. You may just save your favourite outfit!
